

CV

Girly Delanny Menezes de Lucena

A MSc. Girly Delanny Menezes de Lucena is a Project Data Systems Engineer for the Deep Space Network(DSN) at NASA-Jet propulsion laboratory in California. She works with the Telemetry Track and Commanding part of the DSN. Girly is known as Gigi Lucena in the US. Previously, Gigi worked as a software developer at a company in Brazil called Unit Software for 8 years. Gigi has an AS in computer programming at SM college, a BS in computer science at CSUN and is working on her Masters degree at Georgia Tech. The focus of her masters degree is Computer Systems. She is a co-author on the paper Scheduling Within a Demand Access Paradigm for NASA's Deep Space Network. Some projects that Gigi worked on at NASA DSN are Robo- Scheduling Service, Spacecraft for scientists, DSN Aperture Fee Calculator, Working Location Tracker. She also previously worked in Flight Software, Swarms of Autonomous Unmanned Surface Vehicles, Autonomous Underwater Vehicle (AUV).